President’s Corner

Kevin Gilmore

I hope this finds everyone close to the end of a busy and successful field season. The recent elimination of the positions of State Archaeologist, Deputy State Archaeologist and Physical Anthropologist from the Antiquities Office in the Utah Division of History is a troubling development and reflects the increasing polarization between development and historic and archaeological preservation entities and the resulting politicization of cultural resource issues. Although touted as a belt tightening measure in response to the recent economic downturn, apparently no other positions in the Division of History have been eliminated. The elimination of these three positions and their replacement with a single position that is politically appointed and for which there are no specialized educational or experience requirements (according to the job announcement) would allow the appointment of someone that does not possess the professional background or ethics to discharge the responsibilities of the position. Although the State of Utah has insisted that this is a budgetary decision and is in no way political, they have created a situation where it would be easy to appoint someone who would be far less an obstacle to the development agenda of the state than were Kevin Jones, Ron Rood and Derinna Kopp. Considering the great number and variety of the archaeological sites in Utah, it is difficult to imagine that a single individual could adequately supervise all of the required permitting, historic preservation, educational and NAGPRA duties mandated by federal and state laws that were previously performed by three full time staff. The potential repercussions of this decision to the cultural resources of Utah cannot be overstated. In response to this decision, the CCPA has sent Governor Herbert a letter protesting this decision signed by me, past President Erik Gantt and President–elect Mark Mitchell.
Since the last newsletter there has been another change to the CCPA Executive Committee. Summer Moore has resigned her position as CCPA Secretary and Charles Reed has graciously volunteered to take her place. Charles has an MA from Washington State University and currently works for Alpine Archaeology. He has also worked for Metcalf Archaeological Consultants and has been a member of the Colorado archaeological community since 2001.

I would also like to inform you that the 2012 CCPA meeting is taking place March 22-24 at the historic Strater Hotel in Durango, and is being hosted by ERO Resources. Durango is a beautiful setting for the meeting, and I know Sean Larmore is working tirelessly on making arrangements for the meeting, including setting up some interesting field trips in the area. I hope to see you all there.

On a much more somber note, we received sad news this past month that Pam Miller, the Cultural Resources Program Manager at the Pinon Canyon Maneuver Site and her husband Terry Miller, an environmental protection specialist at PCMS were in a car accident on the PCMS. Pam was severely injured and Terry was killed. On behalf of the CCPA I’d like to extend to Pam our heartfelt condolences for the loss of her husband, and express our hopes for her speedy recovery. Pam has always worked with the CCPA on trying to find good resolutions on cultural resource issues at PCMS, and she deserves the support of the membership in this time of need.

Two Old Names, One New Team – LaRamie Soils Joins Metcalf Archaeology

On June 1, 2011 Metcalf Archaeological Consultants, Inc. (MAC) acquired LaRamie Soils Service, Inc. (LRSS) and combined more than 30 years of experience in archaeology and geoarchaeology under one organization. Still directed by Michael McFaul of Centennial, WY we are pleased to announce that Debra K. Green, Ph.D., from MAC’s Bismarck, ND office joined the LRSS team. Green began work in June as the up-and-coming principal geoarchaeologist who will lead LRSS in the future. In her new role, Green applies more than 10 years of professional experience in archaeology and geoarchaeology on the Great Plains.

New Structure – LRSS is an independently operating division of MAC and shares only the support of MAC’s administrative team, e.g., HR, IT, payroll, accounting and insurance. All other professional services, geographic service areas, and operations remain proprietary to and under the leadership of McFaul and Green. All client and project information is kept in strict confidence in order to maintain the independence of LRSS to preserve client/consultant relationships. No LRSS project information is shared with the cultural resource management division of MAC unless at the direction of the client.

We are pleased to make this announcement to our fellow archaeologists in Colorado. The new relationship of the two companies is designed to better serve our clients, the agencies, and our colleagues in the pursuit of quality consulting services and cool science. Please contact us for more information and welcome LRSS to the MAC family of businesses!

Elizabeth Lynch Awarded Scholarship

University of Wyoming graduate student Elizabeth Lynch has been awarded a Ward Weakly Memorial Scholarship in support of her research on bedrock grinding surfaces in southeastern Colorado. Ms. Lynch has received $750.00 specifically for radiocarbon dating samples from a mano and a pack rat midden that has effectively sealed the mano and associated grinding surfaces at some time in the past. She is investigating the variation among grinding surfaces and how they are organized and distributed throughout the southeastern Colorado canyon landscape. She is hoping to provide a window of time for use of the grinding surfaces by looking at environmental changes and dating associated materials.

Ward Weakly Memorial Scholarship
Applications are Due March 1, 2011

Applications for CCPA's Ward Weakly Memorial Scholarship are due March 1. Information about the scholarship and application form can be found on CCPA's website (www.coloradoarchaeologists.org) under “About Us”. Students at any level can apply!

Get To Know Your Colorado Archaeologist

Name: Kimberly Henderson
Hometown: Colorado Springs, CO
Degrees/ Institutions: BA, Anthropology/Geography, University of Colorado at Colorado Springs; MA, Anthropology (archaeology emphasis), University of Denver.
How I became an archaeologist: I have always had an affinity for playing in the dirt and was constantly making mud pies and playing in mom’s flower garden as a child. I think the most telling hint was when my dad used to take me fishing with him. I was never watching my pole, but off in search of lost treasure (tackle) along the banks. It was exhilarating to find a shiny lure that he could use! I also have a shameful addiction to puzzles, you know, the 5000 piece kind. All of the character traits associated with these childhood tendencies came together in an Introduction to Archaeology course taught by our very own Dr. Minette Church. I was inspired by her knowledge of history and the subject and was in utter disbelief that you could actually get a job as an archaeologist; a job where I could play in the dirt, look for cool stuff, and put a puzzle together. I was hooked from there and went on to graduate school.
Current Project/ Interest: I have been balancing many projects lately but the most significant is the management of a transmission line project in Bemidji, Minnesota. It’s a very small place but absolutely beautiful. I couldn’t get enough of the Minnesota “nice” and truly enjoyed my work there this spring and summer, particularly with the tribal archaeologists. I enjoyed learning about the archaeology of the area and the challenges of walking through forested wetlands. You really had to know your way around or you might find yourself up to your ears in water before you know it. I have never seen so many ticks in my life during survey and think I much prefer the bugs and critters closer to home. Oh..and Yes, I did get the photo with Paul and Babe.

Most Recent Good Book I Have Read: The Game of Thrones series by George R.R. Martin.

Most Important Archaeological Lesson: Empathy; not everyone works the same way you do.

Most Rewarding Archaeological Experience: My field experiences in southeastern Colorado, particularly helping to teach field school at the Lopez Plaza Archaeological project with Minette. Whipping those kids around in a 10 person van along the bottom of the flood plain was the best, especially when they had to push me out when I got stuck and ended up covered in mud. It was always fun to watch the rain clouds move in every afternoon. I haven’t seen that type of motivation in a field crew since then.

The Most Exciting Thing in Archaeology Right Now: Data management. Yes, I said it. New advances in field tools such as recording sites using a computer tablet or taking photos with a GPS camera can make recording so much more efficient and fun!

The Most Delicious Meal I’ve Eaten While In the Field: Anong’s Thai Cuisine in Rawlins, Wyoming. It wasn’t good for some, but it has always been great to me!

What Colorado Archaeology Needs Right Now: Community among the younger generation (post-grad and pre-grey, well mostly pre-grey) of archaeologists that are starting to influence a new direction for CRM as the need for new technology and methods becomes a greater focus in how we do things.

Denver Inside and Out

Denver turned 150 just a few years ago—not too shabby for a city so down on its luck in 1868 that Cheyenne boosters deemed it “too dead to bury.” Still, most of the city’s history is a recent memory: Denver’s entire story spans just two human lifetimes.

In Denver Inside and Out, twelve authors illustrate how pioneers built enduring educational, medical, and transportation systems; how Denver’s social and political climate contributed to the elevation of women; how Denver residents wrestled with—and exploited—the city’s natural features; and how diverse cultural groups became an essential part of the city’s fabric. By showing how the city rose far above its humble roots, the authors illuminate the many ways that Denver residents have never stopped imagining a great city.
Published in time for the opening of the new History Colorado Center in Denver in 2012, Denver Inside and Out hints at some of the social, economic, legal, and environmental issues that Denverites will have to consider over the next 150 years.

Helen Ring Robinson: Colorado Senator and Suffragist

By Pat Pascoe

Calling herself “the housewife of the senate,” Helen Ring Robinson was Colorado’s first female state senator and only the second in the United States. Serving from 1913 to 1916, she worked for social and economic justice as a champion of women, children, and workers’ rights and education during a tumultuous time in the country’s history. Her commitment to these causes did not end in the senate; she continued to labor first for world peace and then for the American war effort after her term ended. Helen Ring Robinson is the first book to focus on this important figure in the women’s suffrage movement and the 1913, 1914, and 1915 sessions of the Colorado General Assembly. Author Pat Pascoe, herself a former Colorado senator, uses newspapers, legislative materials, Robinson’s published writings, and her own expertise as a legislator to craft the only biography of this contradictory and little-known woman. Robinson had complex politics as a suffragist, peace activist, international activist, and strong supporter of the war effort in World War I and a curious personal life with an often long-distance marriage to lawyer Ewing Robinson, yet close relationship with her stepdaughter, Alycon. Pascoe explores both of these worlds, although much of that personal life remains a mystery. This fascinating story will be a worthwhile read to anyone interested in Colorado history, women’s history, labor history, or politics.

A professional writer and former teacher, Pat Pascoe served twelve years in the Colorado State Senate, where she focused on education policy.

Native American Scholarship Committee Update
Submitted By Christy Smith and Greg Wolff

The CCPA Native American Scholarship Committee is proud to announce the 2011 recipient of the Crow Canyon Middle School Archaeology Camp scholarship. The recipient was Galen Hughte, a member of the Laguna Pueblo. Galen is active with his church, fundraises for MESA, Future Teachers, and EPICS (Educating parents/special education). He is the president of his local Future Teachers Association and to top it off, he carries an A average on his classes. Galen submitted a short essay describing his experience at the archaeology camp:

Dear Crow Canyon,

I had such a wonderful time at MSAC. It was the best. Thank-you for the wonderful opportunity. The classes were all great. I learned how to tell what time period a pueblo was from by the architecture and the pottery sherds. My experiences were great. I made many friends and I’m also determined to become an archaeologist.

Everything about MSAC was great. The teachers, classes, counselors, and the food. I had an experience with starting a fire with a bow and I also used an atlatl. The trips were so awesome. Hopefully in two years I will be accepted into the High School Field School. Thank you!

Sincerely,
Galen Hughte

The CCPA Native American Scholarship Committee would like to thank Crow Canyon for partnering with CCPA by contributing funds for the 2011 scholarship. We also want to thank Gayle Prior of Crow Canyon for working with us, and for searching for scholarship recipients like Galen. Lastly, a huge thanks goes to CCPA members for supporting this great scholarship! Gayle also thanks CCPA and in her words, “Thanks to you and the committee at CCPA for being a partner with Crow Canyon in awarding this scholarship. It's encouraging that this program helped point him in the direction of becoming an archaeologist, and I won't be surprised to find his application in the stack for consideration for the three week program in 2014. It's really encouraging to us to know that this program helps shape kids’ lives at an early age and provide an unforgettable experience.”

If anyone is interested in joining the CCPA Native American Scholarship Committee, please contact Christy Smith at christy.smith@hdrinc.com or Greg Wolff at Greg.Wolff@dot.state.co.us. Our goal is to provide great opportunities for Native American students, maintain our relationship with Crow Canyon, and fundraise for the scholarship. New ideas and new members are welcome!
Membership Report
By Jon Horn

We currently have 125 members for 2011 and are looking forward to receiving many more renewals. If you have not yet renewed, please use the renewal form included in this newsletter. I am hopeful that the renewals will keep rolling in. We are always looking for new members, so please ask your colleagues to join the organization. Your membership dues are critical for the organization to continue funding our numerous publications and for the Ward Weakly and Crow Canyon Native American scholarships. Applying is easy and an application is included with the newsletter or can be found on the CCPA website.

Publications Committee Update
Submitted By Kelly Pool

It's been fairly quiet on the Publications Committee front, but books continue to sell and we continue to find ways to distribute Noble's Ancient Colorado. Most recently, we've had a request from AIA-Denver and Boulder for copies of that book to distribute free to participants at their National Archaeology Day event on Oct. 22, 2011 at Paleoresearch Institute in Golden. Up to 100 copies will be provided to them free of charge. At that same event, we've asked AIA to facilitate a small display of the CCPA prehistoric and historic contexts with a stack of order forms. In addition, CCPA will have a table in the book room at the upcoming RMAC Conference in Missoula. We'll have display copies of our publications there along with a stack of order forms. As a way of marketing our books to different audiences, we'd like to encourage CCPA members who give public archaeology talks to consider taking along a few personal copies of CCPA publications to display as well as a website order form. Finally, our committee is working with a few teachers from Denver area schools to begin early development of this year's Colorado History curriculum; Ancient Colorado will be their textbook.

Submitted by Bonnie Gibson, Treasurer

The finances of the CCPA are in excellent condition. As of the end of the third quarter of 2011, the account balances are as follows:

- Checking: $7,448.79
- Scholarship: $18,600.54
- Money Market: $18,334.69
- Publications: $7,652.42

Scholarship contributions for the quarter include $95 from dues and $25 from donations. No outstanding scholarships or other transactions are pending.

2011 CCPA Executive Committee Meeting (Approved Minutes)
Friday, March 25, 2011, Otero Junior College, La Junta
Submitted by Summer Moore, Secretary

Call to Order
Kevin Gilmore, President: He calls the meeting to order at 12:20 p.m.

Approval of Minutes from September 17, 2010 Executive Committee Meeting
Glade Hadden, Board Member: He moves that the minutes of the Executive Committee Meeting on September 17, 2010, be approved as written. Cody Anderson, Past Secretary, corrects his previous statement during the meeting that only the CCPA President is allowed to look at the archived material at the Denver Public Library. All members of the Executive Committee are allowed to view the archives.

Erik Gantt, Past President: He moves that the Executive Committee meeting minutes be approved with Cody's changes. Mark Mitchell seconds. Motion approved.

Miscellaneous Matters
Erik Gantt, Past President: He suggests that the committee discuss what mechanisms are available in CCPA’s by-laws to allow for the replacement of an officer should someone not be able to complete his or her term. Several options were considered, such as holding a special election or allowing the President-Elect to take on the officer’s duties. It was decided that, according to the by-laws, it is the duty of the President to appoint someone to serve out the officer’s term. There is no need to change the by-laws for this to happen.

Mark Mitchell, President-Elect: He moves that the President appoint a committee of non-Executive Committee members to review the status of CCPA’s books and to arrange for preparation of the 2010 tax return. Glade Hadden seconds. Motion approved.

Kevin Gilmore, President: He appoints Chris Bevilaqua to head the abovementioned committee. He appoints Christy Smith to serve on the committee.

Reports of Committees
Membership Committee
Jon Horn, Membership Committee: He asks if Joel Tyberg and Jeff Hokanson would like to continue on the committee.

Publications Committee
Anne McKibbin, Publications Committee: She has a box of CCPA letterhead stationary that was ordered a couple of years ago. We are out of Southern Colorado River Basin context books. We have the Southern Colorado contexts on disk, and we need to decide how much to charge for them. The Publications Committee recommends that we charge $15.00. The cost of production is $5.00 plus postage.

Mark Mitchell, President-Elect: He moves to accept the price of $15.00. Glade Hadden seconds. Motion approved.

Anne McKibbin for Kelly Pool, Publications Committee: We are on the third printing of the other four prehistoric contexts. We have sold approximately 75 percent of our stock, but CAS still has 90 percent of their stock. What should we do?

Native American Scholarship
Greg Wolff, Native American Scholarship: He is trying to negotiate with Crow Canyon for a lower cost to CCPA for the scholarship. Crow Canyon has agreed to cover the rest of the cost beyond what CCPA can pay, with the caveat that they may not be able to find a Native American student every year. Greg recommends that we offer to fund the Native American scholarship at $750.00, the same rate as the Ward Weakly Scholarship.

Shina duVall, Board Member: She moves to fund the Native American Scholarship out of the CCPA general fund at $750.00. Bonnie Gibson seconds. Motion approved.

Glade Hadden, Board Member: He moves to move $750.00 out of the general fund into the Ward Weakly Fund for the Native American Scholarship. Bonnie Gibson seconds. Motion approved.

Resolutions Committee
Sean Larmore, Resolutions Committee: He says that Lucy Bambrey has volunteered to formalize the role of the Resolutions Committee. Among other duties, the committee will handle recognizing outgoing officers and other individuals specific to CCPA. Sean would like to resign from the Resolutions Committee in view of his responsibilities with the new prehistoric contexts.

Kevin Gilmore, President: He appoints Michelle Slaughter to serve on the Resolutions Committee.

Ward Weakly Scholarship Fund
Adrienne Anderson, Ward Weakly Scholarship Fund: She emphasizes that the spelling of the fund’s name is “Weakly.” Adrienne passes out information about the chronological history of the Ward Weakly Fund. She also passes out a proposal to add wording to the Ward Weakly Scholarship Fund procedures concerning input by the CCPA membership with regard to applications procedures, as well as the addition of $5.00 from each member's yearly dues to the Ward Weakly Fund. She reiterates that $5.00 from each member's dues had previously been approved by the membership in 1990, but she is uncertain whether that amount is actually being credited to the fund. She would like this earmark to be more formally recognized and accounted for by the Treasurer.

Glade Hadden, Board Member: He moves to accept Adrienne's wording of additions to the Ward Weakly Scholarship Fund procedures. Bonnie Gibson seconds. Motion approved.

Newsletter Update
Susan East, Newsletter Editor: She needs to collect and post updated contact information for the officers in the newsletter. She emphasizes the importance of meeting deadlines for submission of information to the newsletter.

Erik Gantt, Past President: He expresses concern about publishing the names of people with dues in arrears in the newsletters because these names can be accessed using online search engines. It is agreed that this practice will not be continued.

Jon Horn, Membership Committee: He asks if we can encrypt the email addresses of officers in the newsletter so that they cannot be grabbed by spammers.

Website Update
Mary Sullivan, Web Master: She asks Michelle Slaughter to join her on the committee for choosing a website designer, which was created in the Business Meeting earlier that day. Michelle agrees. It is agreed that the new website should have the ability to accept PayPal payment by credit card for membership dues and publications.

Unfinished Business
Prehistoric Context Update
Sean Larmore, Resolutions Committee: He proposes that a new committee be formed to work on the new prehistoric contexts. Anne McKibbin has volunteered to serve on the committee. It is agreed that Susan Chandler and Mary Sullivan be given the opportunity to be involved in production of the new contexts, and that the original authors will be contacted, in order to decide how to organize the new contexts. After these decisions are made, Sean will apply for a grant to complete the new contexts.

New Business
2012 Annual Meeting
Glade Hadden, Board Member: He moves to hold the 2012 meeting in Durango, to be hosted by ERO Resources Corporation. Bonnie Gibson seconds. Motion approved.

Creation of New Committees
No new committees are formed at this time.

Appointment/Reappointment of Committee Chairs
Jon Horn, Membership Committee: He wants to continue as Chair of the Membership Committee.

New Website Issues
Greg Williams, Listserver Coordinator: He has been maintaining the listserve for one year with no problems, and he would like to continue to keep it open to everyone, regardless of CCPA membership, unless a problem occurs. Shina duVall provides a reminder to keep listserve posts discrete. Chris Bevilaqua suggests we put up listserve etiquette guidelines on the website.

Adjourn
Glade Hadden, Board Member: He moves to adjourn the meeting at 2:40 p.m. Summer Moore seconds. Motion approved.
