President's Corner

Kristin Kuckelman

The snow lies thick and deep in the Four Corners area as I compose my final newsletter column as president of CCPA. It has been a productive year for our organization and a busy but richly rewarding experience for me. I have appreciated the opportunity to serve as president of this worthwhile organization of professional archaeologists. A heartfelt “thank you” to the other members of the executive committee for their assistance and efforts on behalf of archaeology in Colorado. I hope that I have contributed in some small way or at least avoided doing irreversible damage!

Here’s a brief recap of CCPA issues, activities, and accomplishments since our 2009 annual meeting:

—The executive committee (EC) participated in Section 106 consultations on proposed IED Village Lanes at the Piñon Canyon Maneuver Site (PCMS). We provided written comments, and EC members Erik Gantt, Michelle Slaughter, Greg Wolff, and I toured PCMS sites and discussed with PCMS personnel our concerns about the welfare of their cultural resources.

—The EC sent a broad-based letter to the commanding general of Fort Carson regarding our concern for the status and continued protection of cultural resources at the PCMS, and the letter was copied to numerous agency officials and other interested parties.

—The EC sent letters to US senators and representatives from Colorado and US senators from Utah commending the federal government and federal law enforcement officers for their efforts to stem the criminal destruction of archaeological sites for enjoyment and to ask legislators to support the enforcement of ARPA and NAGPRA legislation; thanks to former president of CCPA Bridget Ambler for initiating that action.

—CCPA began posting our newsletters on our website.

—CCPA donated $250 to The Archaeology Channel and $1300 to the Crow Canyon Native American Scholarship Fund.

—To encourage continued collaboration with CAS, I attended a CAS quarterly meeting in Durango in July, and Past President Lucy Bambrey attended the January CAS meeting in Colorado Springs. We’re hoping for strong CAS attendance at our annual meeting in Montrose in March.

—EC members toured a bank building in Fairplay and provided positive input regarding its suitability for conversion to an archaeological museum and curation facility for the Park County area.

—On behalf of CCPA, I provided a letter of support for a Colorado State Historical Fund grant for the Dominguez Archaeological Research Group, Inc. to continue compilation of radiocarbon dates from across the state.

—EC members reviewed and approved a draft Section 106 Programmatic Agreement for the Federal Highway Administration, Colorado Division.

—The CCPA now has its own Facebook page, thanks to Board Member Michelle Slaughter.

—The CCPA now has a Google-based listserv, which will simplify and speed communications to our members; thanks to Newsletter Editor Greg Williams.

—Webmaster Mary Sullivan is in the process of adding a CCPA “Fellows” page to our website to honor four individuals—Adrienne Anderson, David Breternitz, Frank Eddy, and Elizabeth Ann Morris—who have contributed so much to archaeology in Colorado over the past several decades.

I’d like to take this opportunity to thank outgoing Board Members Rand Greubel and Steve Dominguez for their service on the EC. Their efforts are greatly appreciated.

Thanks also to Alpine Archaeological Consultants, who are hard at work with preparations for a great annual meeting in Montrose. This event is right around the corner; refer to the more detailed information elsewhere in this newsletter. It should be a lot of fun—let’s shoot for a record turnout!

Membership Report

By Jon Horn

It is now time to pay your 2010 dues. Thanks to the 13 of you who have paid already! We look forward to having the rest of our membership renew. We had 16 new members in 2009 and have had one new member so far for 2010. A warm welcome to Susan East, our newest member.

Make sure to fill out a renewal form so that we are certain that your contact information is current and correct. Your continued membership is greatly appreciated and needed for CCPA to be able to continue as a strong organization for the interchange of ideas and information, as a promoter of archaeology in the state, and as a strong voice in management of our irreplaceable heritage. Please encourage your colleagues and students to become members.

Twenty-Five Years Ago in Colorado Archaeology (Winter 1984-85)

Dr. Leslie Wildesen became the new Colorado State Archaeologist in October, 1984, taking over from Dr. Bruce Rippeteau, who had been serving in an acting capacity while CHS searched for a new State Archaeologist.

In December, ABC's 20/20 news hour featured a segment on the national archeological salvage program, focusing on what were considered outrageous costs for minimal return. Archeological inventory received little attention, with Colorado's Pinyon Canyon Maneuver Site serving as the only example. Professional archaeologists Larry Lahrens, Glen Rice, Steve Chomko, Thomas King and Fred Plog sparred with reporters Hugh Downs, Barbara Walters, and Tom Jarriel over several key examples where costs were high or where sites were destroyed despite preservation efforts. A transcript of the segment is available in the CCPA Newsletter, June 1985, Vol. 7, No. 2.

CCPA's annual meeting was scheduled for March 8-9, 1985 at the Hotel Colorado in Glenwood Springs, the organization's first return to its initial founding venue. CCPA Officers for 1985. Immediate Past President: Dr. Steve Cassells. President: Dr. Steve Sigstad. President-elect: Dr. Susan Collins. Secretary: Sally Cole. Treasurer: Mark Guthrie. Board members: Chris Zier, Dr. Jeff Eighmy, Dr. Linda Scott, Marcia Tate, Dr. Paul Nickens, and Kevin Black.

The United States Forest Service (USFS) denied a permit requested by the Chimney Rock Coal Company for the purpose of mining within the Chimney Rock Archaeological Area. The Colorado Archaeological Society and CCPA strongly opposed the proposed mining. The Sierra Club represented Colorado's archaeological interests during USFS hearings in Washington, DC.

The Colorado Archaeological Society celebrated its 50th anniversary year in 1985. The Society's Executive Secretary, Ivor Hagor, reported that CAS had over 800 members, many joining as a result of various Colorado Archaeological Awareness Year activities.

Ward Weakly Memorial Scholarship Applications are Due March 1

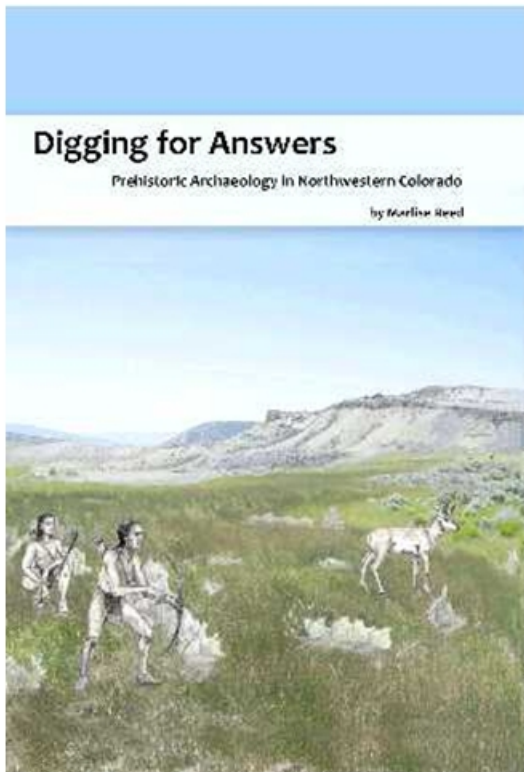

Applications for CCPA's Ward Weakly Memorial Scholarship are due March 1. Information about the scholarship and application form can be found on CCPA's web site (www.coloradoarchaeologists.org) under "About Us".

The University Press of Colorado periodically publishes books relevant to archaeology. For more information go to www.upcolorado.com or call 720-406-8849.

The Archaeology of Class War. The Colorado Coalfield Strike of 1913-1914. Edited by Karin Larkin and Randall H. McGuire. 432 pages. Photos, illustrations, maps and tables. $60.00. "The Archaeology of Class War weaves together material culture, documents, oral histories, landscapes, and photographs to reveal aspects of the strike and life in early twentieth-century Colorado coalfields unlike any standard documentary history. Excavation at the site of the (Ludlow Massacre) and the nearby town of Berwind exposed tent platforms, latrines, trash dumps, and the cellars in which families huddled during the attack. Myriad artifacts—from canning jars to a dolls head—reveal the details of daily existence and bring the community to life."

Utah Rock Art Digital Image Archives

at Edge of the Cedars State Park Museum

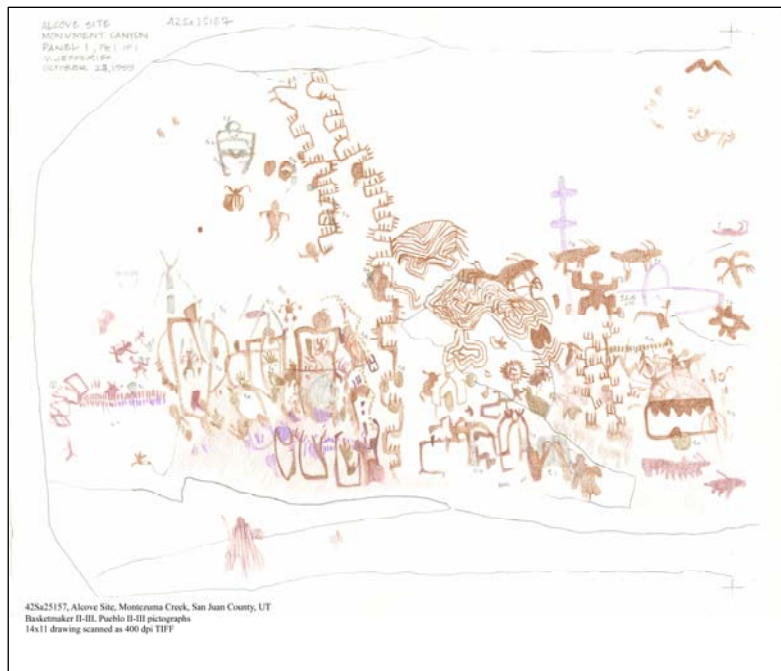

The Earthwatch/BLM Rock Art Project digital image archives are available for research at Edge of the Cedars State Park Museum in Blanding, UT. The collection features more than 1,500 digital images of southeastern Utah rock art ranging from pre-Basketmaker through the historic period. Digitization was funded through a grant from the Utah State Historical Records Advisory Board. See the drawing to the right.

The digital archives represent about half of the sites documented by the Earthwatch/BLM project (1993-2001) in Cedar Mesa/Grand Gulch, Beef Basin, Fable Valley, Montezuma Creek, and the San Juan River corridor. Sally Cole directed the project. The museum houses the complete project records including some 3,000 original drawings, 11,000 color slides, and 5,000 prints, negatives, and transparencies.

Deborah Westfall, the museum's curator of collections, describes the Earthwatch/BLM archives as "the largest and best-documented collection of prehistoric and ethnographic rock art images for southeast Utah."

OAHP Offices are Moving

From Mary Sullivan

Movin’

Mary Sullivan (With apologies to Janet Du Bois and Jeff Barry)

Well we’re movin on up,
To the north side.
To a “deluxe” office in the sky.
Movin on up
To the fourth floor
We finally signed a lease, I don’t lie

Yes you heard right the Office of Archaeology and Historic Preservation is moving! We are packing up and heading 2.5 blocks north to 1560 Broadway, Suite 400, Denver CO 80202. While this is an interim home, we are looking forward to being reunited with the National and State Register folks, along with the State Historic Fund fellows.

What does this mean to you? Primarily it will mean that for the months of March and April we may have a harder time locating site forms and documents to copy or scan and send out. Our actual moving date is 9 April 2010. As we do not plan to shut the office down for packing, or unpacking, we will be boxing up forms and documents in March, and un-boxing them in April. If you need a form or document during this time, please call and ask and we will do our best to get it to you. We do ask your patience, however, if we can not get to the requested item during this time period. Of course, the closer to the actual move, on either side, the more likely we will not be able to retrieve the requested item.

Other interesting move related info., our phone numbers and emails will not change, and should be working Monday, 12 April. Call us, email us that Monday and ask how our move went if you wish. Of course, we might be away from our desks unpacking forms and documents.

So if you should need to darken our doorway after 9 April 2010, there will be a hole in the ground at 1300 Broadway prompting you to head north to our new, albeit temporary home, at:
Civic Center Plaza
1560 Broadway, Suite 400
Denver, CO 80202

For those of you planning a visit, the map on the left shows nearby parking options.

UPCOMING CCPA 2010 ANNUAL MEETING

The CCPA's annual meeting for 2010 will be held in Montrose, Colorado on March 26 and 27. The meeting site is the Holiday Inn Express hotel. As shown on the schedule below, the business meeting will be Friday morning (March 26) and papers and posters will be presented that afternoon and on Saturday (March 27). As always, the annual meeting is a great opportunity to meet with friends and colleagues, to hear about some good research, and to share your ideas about archaeology. We hope that you will attend.

Summary of Schedule

Thursday, March 25

Early Bird Party—6:30 to 9:30 p.m.

Friday, March 26

Business meeting—8:30 to 11:30 a.m.

Executive Board lunch—11:30 a.m. to 1:00 p.m.

Papers—1:00 to 4:30 p.m.

Cocktail hour/Banquet & Silent Auction—6:00 p.m.

Saturday, March 27

Papers—8:00 a.m. to noon

Posters—10:00 a.m. to noon

Papers—1:30 to 5:00 p.m.

Museum of the Mountain West Tour and Reception—5:30 to 8:30 p.m. Retired BLM archaeologist Rich Fike and his wife, Carol Harris Fike, invite you to a reception and a tour at the Museum of the Mountain West in Montrose. The event will be Saturday evening and will start at 5:30 p.m.

Sunday, March 28

Field trip to Ute Indian Museum and Shavano Rock Art site—9:00 a.m. to noon

Registration

Attached please find a form for advance registration. Note that advance registration must be submitted by March 8, 2010. You can also register at the meeting, but this will cost you an additional $10.00. Credit cards (VISA or MasterCard only) will be accepted. Please note that you must preregister to attend the banquet because the caterer needs to have a head count days before the meeting begins.

Conference Hotel: Holiday Inn Express

1391 South Townsend Ave.

Montrose, CO 81401

Hotel Front Desk: 1-970-240-1800

Hotel Fax: 1-970-240-9093

The meetings, early bird party, and banquet will be held on the ground floor of the Holiday Inn Express. The conference rate is $99.00 per night, plus tax, though you must reserve your room by March 1 to take advantage of that rate. After March 1, the hotel rate is $119.00. Breakfasts are provided for hotel guests and include items like biscuits and gravy, French toast, waffles, cereals, rolls, and eggs. Ten rooms are set aside at government rates. There is an indoor pool, a Jacuzzi, a fitness center, a business center, and a bar, but no on-site restaurant. The Holiday Inn Express is probably the nicest hotel in Montrose.

Early Bird Party

An Early Bird party will be held Thursday evening in the Apex Room at the Holiday Inn Express, between 6:30 and 9:30 p.m. There will be free munchies, and the cash bar will feature a special keg of special Atlatl Ale, made by a local brewery.

CCPA Annual Meeting Call For Papers/Posters

The CCPA seeks presenters for its 2010 Annual Meeting. Contributed papers and posters may cover any topic regarding Colorado archaeology or the archaeology of our neighboring states. Professional and student archaeologists are welcome and encouraged to make presentations. Paper and poster sessions will be held Friday afternoon (March 26) and all-day Saturday (March 27). Paper presentations are limited to 15 minutes in length. Panel discussions or symposia are welcome!

For individual papers, please send in MS Word, single spaced, with no imbedded formatting:

- your paper/poster title
- abstract (~200 words)
- author(s) and affiliation
- personal biography (~100 words)
- audio-visual needs

Send to Lucy Bambrey via email by March 10.

Posters need to be approximately 24 x 36 inches. If poster preparers can provide an easel(s) it would be appreciated. See you in Montrose! E-mail: lbambrey@louisberger.com

Call for Student Papers/Posters

The Colorado Council of Professional Archaeologists (CCPA) is accepting proposals for presentations for our annual meeting in Montrose on March 25 through 28, 2010. Student presentations should be no longer than 15 minutes in length and can be on any topic of archaeological interest. Submit an abstract of your poster or paper (about 200 words) and your school affiliation and whether you are undergraduate or graduate student by March 10. Posters need to be 24 x 36 inches, but you can have more than one poster in your presentation. Please submit a copy of your student paper by March 20. This year, $100.00 will be awarded to both the winning graduate and undergraduate submissions!

E-mail: lbambrey@louisberger.com. Students are encouraged to submit presentations but do NOT have to participate in the contest to present!

Banquet and Silent Auction

A banquet/buffet will be held the evening of Friday, March 26 at the Jordan Room of the Holiday Inn Express. A cash bar will open at 6:00 p.m. and a buffet will be served at 7:00 p.m. There will be a silent auction to benefit Colorado archaeology. The proceeds will be applied to one of several worthy causes such as the Ward Weakly Memorial Scholarship Fund, the Native American Scholarship Fund, funding for updating the prehistoric contexts or the CCPA website, or some aspect of public education. Please bring cool items to donate! If you plan to donate an item for the silent auction, please inform Susan Chandler (susan_chandler@alpinearchaeology.com) or Rand Greubel (rand_greubel@alpinearchaeology.com).

Informal Slide Show

We would like to have a very informal slide show that will run in the background during or immediately following the banquet on Friday night. The slide show will be loosely themed; basically, just Colorado archaeologists and Colorado archaeology. The photos can be fun or serious. We prefer pictures of people or with people in them, but cool sites, excavations, or other project-themed photos are welcome too. There will be no narration, though some captions or other text may be added. We think it will be a fun and interesting accompaniment to the banquet that people can watch if they like, but also feel free to carry on a conversation.

We would like to receive the photos in some type of digital format (e.g., JPG). Please send scans of older snapshots, 35 mm prints, and slides in addition to more recent photos taken with digital cameras, so we have a good selection of older material. If you like, provide some information with the pictures, such as the names of the individuals in the photographs, the year, and the project, site, or area depicted. Email the pictures if possible but please don't send any single email over 1 mb; multiple smaller emails are fine. Alternatively, you can either mail a CD with the photos or upload them to Alpine's FTP site (we'll provide the instructions upon request). It would be helpful if you sized down the larger files before sending.

Please send your photos to Rand Greubel at Alpine as soon as possible, but no later than March 15.

Montrose, CO 81402

T-Shirts

Two styles of t-shirts are available for purchase; proceeds will help support the CCPA. Please see the attached order sheet if you wish to preorder. A limited number of shirts will also be for sale at the conference.

Tour and Reception at the Museum of the Mountain West

Retired BLM archaeologist Rich Fike and his wife, Carol Harris Fike, invite you to a reception and a tour at the Museum of the Mountain West in Montrose. The event will start at 5:30 p.m. The museum features a number of historic buildings, along with a modern building containing reconstructions of a saloon, a dry-goods store, and a doctor's office (among others); roughly 500,000 historic artifacts are shown in the displays. Unwind from the day with some beer or wine in a historic setting. More information on the museum can be found on the website: www.mountainwestmuseum.com. The cost of the reception and tour is $10.00.

Field Trip to Shavano Petroglyph Park and Ute Indian Museum

A field trip to the Ute Indian Museum and the Shavano Petroglyph Park is planned between 9:00 a.m. and noon on Sunday, March 28. Shavano Petroglyph Park, located in Shavano Valley about 7 miles west of Montrose, is listed on the National Register of Historic Places. We will see several striking petroglyphs, but the focus will be on a panel that depicts the Ute Bear Dance. The tour will be guided by Dr. Carol Patterson, an expert in rock art who is very familiar with the site. We will start the tour with a visit to the Ute Indian Museum south of town to better understand Ute culture and the Bear Dance. The cost of the tour will be $5.00, which will cover the cost of a pamphlet about the site. The tour will take about 2 ½ hours to 3 hours.

Any car can reach the site area. Once parked, participants will hike up a trail to the cap rock of a low mesa. The hike is a few hundred meters long and is easy for people of average fitness. Please car pool, if possible, to minimize the number of cars parked along the county road. Participants will meet at the Ute Museum at 9:00 a.m.

2010 CCPA BOARD CANDIDATES

President-Elect

Kevin Gilmore

I have been working in archaeology for 30 years, and I am currently a Senior Archaeologist/Principal Investigator in the Denver office of ERO Resources. I grew up in Denver, and working my way along the western margin of the High Plains, I received a BA in Anthropology from Colorado College in 1981, an MA in Anthropology from CU-Boulder in 1991, and a PhD in Geography from the University of Denver in 2008—a journey that lasted much longer and covered less ground than the Odyssey. I'm interested in how changing climate and population influenced prehistoric culture change, and to this end I'm investigating the records of paleoenvironment from small spring-fed wetlands in eastern Colorado. I'm also interested in the character and timing of the Athapaskan migration into the southwestern U.S. I have published articles and book chapters on the archaeology of eastern Colorado, prehistoric population, geoarchaeology, gender in prehistoric plains society, landscape archaeology and, most recently, the origin and evolution of "pocket fens" in eastern Colorado. I joined the CCPA as a grad student at CU in the mid 1980s, and if elected I would be honored to serve the membership of an organization that has given me so much support during the development of my career and whose mission of promoting professional practice in archaeology I enthusiastically believe in.

Erin Salisbury

Erin Salisbury (M.A., RPA) is Cultural Resources Program Director at SWCA Environmental Consultants in Denver. She earned a B.A. in anthropology from Michigan State University and an M.A. in anthropology with an emphasis in bioarchaeology from Northern Illinois University. She conducted graduate research in England completing the bioarchaeological analysis for an Iron Age cemetery collection. Bioarchaeology brought Ms. Salisbury to SWCA on the Animas-La Plata project at Durango, which produced a significant number of burials and human remains. As an archaeologist and project manager, she has led many SWCA projects, including large-scale, multi-state, multi-year efforts with a variety of agencies and Tribes in Colorado and the western United States.

Treasurer

Susan East

Susan is currently an archaeological technician at RMC Consultants, Inc. located in Lakewood, Colorado. Susan grew up in the Lakewood area and earned her B.A. in anthropology from Colorado State University in Fort Collins. She attended field school through Colorado State's Archaeological Field School and participated in the Greybull River Sustainable Landscape Ecology (GRSLE) Project in Wyoming. It was there that Susan found her love of archaeology and archaeological site preservation. Susan has also participated in various volunteer archaeological projects. While earning her degree, Susan served as president of the CSU Undergraduate Anthropology Club for two years. This opportunity allowed Susan to gain valuable experience in social organizations. In 2009 Susan presented a poster at the Colorado Council of Professional Archaeologists Annual meeting in Alamosa. For this poster she won the "Best Student Poster" award. Susan is moved by all things archaeology but her main interests and career goals include archaeological site preservation and public outreach. Susan is beginning her career in archaeology and she is extremely eager to expand her knowledge and experience. She is proud to be an up and coming archaeologist and she is very excited to be involved within the professional archaeological community.

Jeff Hokanson

Jeff Hokanson is the Cultural Resource Business Group Director for HDR|e²M Inc., a position responsible for managing a growing cultural resources program with more than 40 professionals in six offices nationwide. Prior to this management role, Mr. Hokanson practiced archaeology in the American Southwest and the Marianas Islands of the South Pacific. He directed projects for the National Forest Service, Bureau of Land Management, U.S. Army, U.S. Air Force, Department of Transportation, Native American tribes as well as private entities such as, land developers, oil and gas concerns, and utility companies. As an archaeologist Mr. Hokanson created cultural resource management work plans and research designs and oversaw surveys, evaluations, monitoring, and excavations. Mr. Hokanson has a background in database management, sampling strategies, multivariate statistics and statistical modeling. His research interests include land use studies, archaic populations, flake stone technologies, prehistoric economies, decision-making processes and recycling behaviors. Mr. Hokanson received his Masters of Arts Degree from New Mexico State University and his Bachelor of Arts degree from Hamline University.

Executive Committee

Stephen Anderson

I received a BS in Anthropology from Utah State University in 2004 and a MA in Anthropology from Northern Arizona University in 2007. I am currently the head Field Supervisor and GIS Analyst at The Louis Berger Group, Inc., in Lakewood, Colorado. Prior to archaeology I served eight years in the US Army in 1st Special Forces Command, and later worked as a Project Director for an adaptive recreation non-profit organization in Utah. My professional archaeological specialties are in Southwestern prehistoric archaeology to include the Basketmaker, Pueblo and Fremont cultures, in addition to Great Basin and Great Plains archaeology. Recent projects include a survey of 57 coal mines throughout Wyoming for the purpose of reclamation; a survey of a 100,000 acre wind farm project in southern Wyoming; a survey of proposed access routes for a motorized vehicle access plan at Curecanti National Recreation Area; and a recordation of Abandoned Mine Lands sites slated for closure in Glacier National Park and Grand Canyon National Park. I am married and have three sons ages 3 years, 2 years, and 5 months. My hobbies include hiking, skiing, and white water rafting.

Judy Davis

I have been an archaeologist for almost 5 years and currently work for HDR/e2M. I graduated from the University of Northern Colorado with a Bachelor's in Anthropology (emphasis in archaeology) in 2005 and a Master's in History this last December. Project areas that I have worked in include various cultural/geographical areas in Colorado, as well as Wyoming, Utah, Arizona, and North Dakota. These projects include the recording of the Perry Stokes Airport in Trinidad, CO, cultural resource survey of various anemometer sites in Apache County, AZ, and work in the Great Sand Dunes National Park and Preserve. My interests include settlement patterns, historical archaeology, and medieval history. I have always loved archaeology. When I was a little kid I use to bury things in the backyard just so I could dig them up, it drove my parents crazy!

Shina DuVall

Shina duVall, RPA, received a B.A. in Anthropology from the Metropolitan State College of Denver and M.A. in Anthropology from the University of Colorado at Denver. She has conducted research, supported, and/or managed projects in Colorado, Utah, California, Wyoming, Wisconsin, West Mexico, and northern Peru. Her professional experience includes working as a Staff Archaeologist / Cultural Resource Specialist in environmental consulting - coordinating and managing projects in compliance with Section 106 of the NHPA, supervising field crews, conducting research and fieldwork, and completing project documentation. During her work in environmental consulting, she also worked extensively in NEPA compliance. She currently serves as the Section 106 Compliance Manager for Archaeology within the Office of Archaeology and Historic Preservation, and as an affiliate faculty member within the Department of Sociology, Anthropology, and Behavioral Science at the Metropolitan State College of Denver.

Glade Hadden

Glade Hadden is currently the area archaeologist for the Bureau of Land Management, Uncompahgre Field Office. He has been involved in the field of archaeology for more than twenty years, starting as a seasonal "dig-bum" for the National Park Service and the Bureau of Land Management before becoming a private consultant. Glade received a Master of Science degree in Archaeology from the University of Utah in 1992 and continued Post Graduate studies there for several more years. He is a member of the Register of Professional Archaeologists (RPA), the Society for American Archaeology (SAA), and was formerly member at large of the BLM's National Preservation Board. He is a former member of both the Montana Archaeological Society and the Utah Professional Archaeology Council. Glade has been with the Bureau of Land Management since 1998.
