COLORADO COUNCIL
OF PROFESSIONAL ARCHAEOLOGISTS

On March 10, 1978, the first meeting of the Colorado Council of Professional Archaeologists (CCPA) was held in Glenwood Springs, Colorado. Since that meeting the Council has adopted Bylaws and a Code-of-Ethics and has grown to approximately 120 members. Annual meetings are held in late February or early March each year.

"The Council is a nonprofit voluntary association that exists for the purpose of maintaining and promoting the goals of professional archaeology in the State of Colorado.

These goals shall include but not be limited to:

- a. establishing and promoting high standards of archaeological research, reporting, and management
- b. establishing and promoting a mechanism to represent professional archaeological interests in political and public forums
- c. establishing and promoting a mechanism for communication within the archaeological community
- d. promoting public education and interest in the fields of archaeology and cultural resources management
- e. provide Council input to the Office of the State Archaeologist of Colorado" (CCPA Bylaws, Section II, Purpose).
